

UCF Center for Distributed Learning
12351 Research Pkwy,
Orlando, FL 32826

Dear Techrangers,

Greetings, I'm contacting you in response to a job posting published February 26th on Handshake for the position of part-time Web Developer. I believe that I can bring great value to the Techrangers team and hope that you'll consider me for the position.

As a student at the University of Central Florida I'll be able to quickly adapt to and integrate myself into the work environment. Furthermore, I am pursuing a Bachelor's Degree in Computer Science which allows me to be very familiar with the technologies involved in web development. In my spare time, outside of school, I've worked on developing my own portfolio website from scratch which has allowed me to become well versed in HTML, CSS, Javascript, Python (which I used to design the backend of my website), and databases as well as relevant design philosophies.

I've attached my resume which will provide a broad overview of my experience and education and contains a link to the aforementioned portfolio website I developed. If you're willing I'd be very grateful if we could arrange a meeting to further discuss my qualifications for this position. You can message me any time at (407)-283-3995 or email me at donaldom114@gmail.com.

Thank you,
Donaldo Martinez